

Dr. Zhenfei Guo, Nanjing Agricultural University, China

Zhenfei Guo is a Professor of College of Life Science, Nanjing Agricultural University (NAU), China. Before moving to NAU in 2016, he had been working at South China Agricultural University for 29 years since he got appointed as Lecturer, and later was promoted to Associated Professor and full Professor. His research has been focused on molecular mechanism of cold and drought tolerance in forage legume and warm-season turfgrass species. He is an Associate Editor of The Plant Genome and an adjunct professor of Lanzhou University. He has published over 40 papers on international peer-reviewed journals.

